POLICE ON THE TRAIL OF HOUSE ROBBERS

Clue to House Robber Picked Up By Officers is Being Followed
Up Carefully.

Chief of Police Harry A. Ort and his men are following up clues picked up yesterday on the attempt at robbery at the home of Attorney James M. Collins and at the home of former policeman A. G. Stewart.

The officers think they have some pretty straight tips which they are running down carefully and they expect to be able to make an arrest within a very short time and when they do make the arrest they expect to be able to prove their man guilty beyond a doubt.

With the confession of some small boys last week that they had been guilty of several small robberies about the city, it was thought that the wave of crime started here a few weeks ago had been overcome but it now appears that there are grown-ups playing at the game. The grown-ups may be more professional than the lads but the police are accustomed to dealing with them and will be better able to handle the cases. Should these grown-ups be captured they will be handled just a little rougher than were the youths, too.

MRS. JENNIE D. KING DEAD

Mrs. Jennie D. King died at her home in the Lewisburg neighborhood yesterday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock following a long illness. She is survived by one brother, Mr. James Chambers, with whom she made her home. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home by Rev. O. B. Mitchell, pastor of the Lewisburg Baptist church and burial will be made in the Mayslick cemetery. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

BANK AMENDS ARTICLES OF IN- CORPORATION

Amended articles of incorporation of the Farmers & Traders Bank were filed with the County Clerk yesterday. The amended articles fix the highest amount of indebtedness the corporation may at any one time incur not to exceed the aggregate sum of the surplus and capital stock at the time outstanding.

ANOTHER BOAT LINE TO OPEN BUSINESS HERE

Ohio River Boat Line Heretofore Passing Up Maysville Will Send Representative Here and Will Accept Local Business.

There has been much interest manifested in river traffic during the last week on account of the proposed plan of one of the boat lines to open up the Maysville business for his company.

The Government does not permit private owned enterprises to take any action that will interfere in any way with the traffic upon the public highways and especially her navigable streams. These water courses must be kept open and free from any individual or corporation that has ambitions to manipulate the transportation affairs of our city and will likely find themselves called before Federal authorities.

A communication was recently addressed to the Liberty Transit Co., of Wheeling, W. Va., by the Chamber of Commerce offering to lend the assistance of the business men of Maysville in an endeavor to give them their fair share of business.

A reply was received yesterday in which the boat company expresses their appreciation for the kind offer and assures the members of the local organization that they will have their representative call upon us at an early date and give us their rates and schedule of operation. They state that during the present low water they are making some changes in their boats and will operate a regular schedule in the very near future. In the past this company's boats have not received freight from or for Maysville.

ALLIES BREAK HUN LINES IN FIRST BIG OFFENSIVE

French and Americans Capture Much Ground, Many Guns and Take Prisoners in Smash Into German Forces

With the American Armies in France, July 18—The American troops up to noon just south of Soissons had captured 3,300 prisoners. Fifty cannons had been counted and thousands of machine guns.

Northwest of Chateau Thierry the Americans captured large numbers of prisoners and an equally important quantity of munitions and stores.

The captures south of Soissons in the way of stores were immense and included some airplanes which the enemy were unable to remove, so swiftly did the storming troops sweep through. Many prisoners and guns still remain uncounted.

ENEMY OVERPOWERED ON 25-MILE FRONT

From the region west of Soissons to the northwest of Chateau Thierry American and French armies have begun strong offensive against the Germans which possibly may have a marked influence on the future of the world war. In its initial stage the movement has been rewarded with great success.

All along the 25 miles the French and American troops have dashed in brilliant fashion across positions held by the Germans, killing, wounding or capturing thousands of the enemy and taking towns, villages and large quantities of guns and other war supplies.

Nowhere, according to last accounts from the front, has the enemy been able to stay the progress of their assailants although counter attacks were resorted to on some important sectors after the unexpected attack had worn away.

To the Americans alone in the region west of Soissons came 4,000 prisoners, 30 guns and much war material. Additional large numbers of captives, further great stores of guns, ammunition and other war necessities were taken by the French. Before all the positions of the Americans and French their guns and machine guns cut to pieces fleeing hordes of the enemy or bands which endeavored to withstand the rush.

The blow, probably long in its inception, is being aimed at territory vital to the Germans—territory the capture of which would not alone mean the forced retirement from the entire salient extending southward across the occupied region from Soissons to Rethim with Chateau Thierry its southern apex, but possibly would result in the capture of thousands of Germans operating there, many of them comprising the best soldiers of the German emperor's army.

The Allies have reached, roughly, the line of Belchain, Courchamps, Chouy, Villers-Helion, Chaudun and the heights dominating Soissons. French cavalry has crossed between the Soissons-Chateau Thierry road to an opening made by the Franco-American forces. The greatest progress up to latest reports was about ten kilometers, or a little over six miles.

After passing the third objective set for the operations of the morning, the Americans, in cooperation with the French south of Soissons, launched a second powerful attack at noon. Showing the effect of splendid training, the American troops went forward swiftly and fought with fury. Nothing seemed to stop them, especially in the region of Soissons and to the south of that city. Light and heavy pieces were moved up as the troops advance and soon after each barrage ended shells from the American guns were deluging the enemy's areas playing havoc with his forces, whether those in retreat, or reserves endeavoring to come up.

It was open warfare with all the attending excitement, and through the gaps made by heavy guns and infantry the French cavalry dashed, beating down those in their paths. Terrible losses were inflicted at all points on the enemy. The tanks did all that was expected of them. The great lumbering engines rolled along in front of the infantry driving the Germans before them with streams of bullets and clearing away many obstructions that had escaped the artillery.

The enemy early began to bring up strong reinforcements.

Fresh troops have appeared at various points and a heavy counter attack will probably have to be withstood.

More Than 20 Towns Taken
Paris, July 18—More than 20 villages have been recaptured by the French and American troops in the offensive begun this morning, according to the War Office announcement tonight which reports also the occupation of the plateau dominating Soissons on the southwest.

Turning Point Seen
Washington, July 18—The heart of the American nation was in France tonight. It marched and fought proudly.

ROBBERS ENTERED HOME OF MRS. A. WHEELER

The fourth attempt at robbery on Thursday morning was reported to the police yesterday when Mrs. Alwilda Wheeler informed the officers that shortly after midnight some one entered her home on Forest avenue with intent to rob.

Mrs. Wheeler says that she heard a noise as if something metallic had fallen to the floor and she was aroused to find some one running from her front door. She made an investigation and found that both the front and back doors were opened.

An investigation in the room showed that the intruder had moved a sewing machine to get into a dresser standing nearby and as he moved the machine a pair of scissors on the machine were knocked to the floor. When she first awoke, Mrs. Wheeler said, she saw a light which looked to her like the light from a match but it was at once extinguished and the man who held it ran from the house.

Nothing was missed from the residence, however and there is no clue left for the police to work on the case. However, they are making a very thorough investigation and expect to connect this would-be robber with those who made other attempts at robbery the same morning.

KENTUCKY DOES HER BIT

For sundry reasons, one of which is that Indiana and Illinois and Ohio, very progressive States, abut upon the north side of the Ohio River and present the basis of inevitable comparison, Kentucky is regarded by many persons, among them Kentuckians, as being slower than she is really in the development of agriculture, her chief resource.

The Weekly News Letter of the United States Department of Agriculture includes the following:

The center of agricultural production of the United States, according to the value of crop and animal products for 1917, is in West Central Illinois, as shown by a diagram just issued by the Department of Agriculture. The States of greatest production are: Iowa, $1,330,000,000; Illinois, $1,255,000,000; Texas, $1,045,000,000; Missouri, $974,000,000; Ohio, $851,000,000; Nebraska, $774,000,000; Indiana, $766,000,000; Kansas, $735,000,000; New York, $700,000,000; Minnesota, $646,000,000; Pennsylvania, $36,000,000; Georgia, $605,000,000; Wisconsin, $598,000,000; California, $576,000,000; Michigan, $534,000,000, and Kentucky, $529,000,000.

Kentucky has but a little more than 40,000 square miles of territory, a good deal of it mountainous. New York has nearly 50,000 square miles. Michigan has nearly 58,000 square miles, part of it rough and untraversable. Minnesota has 84,000 square miles. Georgia has 59,000, Illinois above 56,000, Wisconsin, 56,000, California, 158,000; Texas, 265,000; Missouri, 69,000; Iowa, 56,000; Nebraska, 77,000; Kansas has 82,000.

Ohio, with 41,000 square miles and Pennsylvania with 45,000 are the only States in the list of those of notably great production which are in gross area only a little larger than Kentucky. Pennsylvania is approximately one-ninth larger than Kentucky and produces approximately one-sixth more than Kentucky. Ohio, unlike Pennsylvania and Kentucky, is not partly mountainous and its forested area is far less than that of Kentucky.

It is evident from the figures quoted that Kentucky farmers are not unprogressive and that actively operated farms in the State are producing handsomely. Much has been done during the last decade, with the help of the Federal and State Departments of Agriculture, to increase the productivity of Kentucky soil which has suffered depletion as a result of short-sighted tillage. Figures giving the comparative productivity of Kentucky and other States will, from year to year, show that Kentucky is keeping stride with the more progressive among the agricultural States of the Union. This is as it should be, for as a Kentucky Colonel in a Kentucky story says: "This is God's country an' the soil doesn't require much coarin'." —Courier-Journal.

SAVING THE RESERVES

The total wheat crop for 1918 is estimated to be near the billion mark, or in round figures, 931,000,000 bushels. This is an increase of 15 per cent, over the average crop for the years 1912 to 1916, and a jump of 43 per cent over last year's yield.

This is all true, but it does not at all mean that with this bumper crop coming in so soon we can begin to eat wheat at our normal rate of consumption. To do so would be almost the same as to manufacture a great number of aeroplanes and then use them all for pleasure purposes instead of war activities.

America this year has probably reached the high-water mark of her agricultural production for the period of the war. In the succeeding years, men who are on the land now will leave their farming to enter active service.

It would be folly not to look forward now to those lean years when more men shall have left the farm, and store up reserves for that time. Moreover, it is imperative that reserves should be stored not only with the view of supplying ourselves through lean years, but of feeding the Allied armies and civilian population for the duration of this war.

A tremendous task! But we are equal to it if we keep to our conservation program, and redouble our efforts so that a goodly portion of our 1918 supplies of food may be stored as a reserve against emergencies.

It is easier to save the staple foods now than at any other time of the year, for the produce of the war garden can be substituted in a great measure for them. The more fresh vegetables we eat the less wheat and meat we need.

IRELAND'S BLUNDER

In dealing with Ireland England never did the right thing at the right time. The Catholic emancipation bill, the disestablishment of the establishment church of Ireland, the land laws, the land-purchase act and the home rule bill were recognitions of the justice of Ireland's claims which, though excellent in act and intent, failed to allay discontent because they were not put on the statute books and enforced at the psychological moment.

Now the Irish recalcitrants are committing the same fatal error of choosing the wrong time. They are trying to tie England's hands when she is fighting for freedom and democracy in alliance with the United States and other lovers of liberty. In this way, as John Dillon, chairman of the Irish Nationalists, says: "The Sinn Fein is not only alienating Americans but our own Irish people in America."

There is time for everything, and the present hour is the time to fight the Hun. American cannot see why Irishmen should not stand shoulder to shoulder with them on the battlefields of France and Belgium. Ireland owes much to these two countries and should repay her debt in the hour of their extremity instead of courting the favor of their barbarous foe.—New York Commercial.

The beautiful cup which the Kaiser awarded to the American winner of his yacht race has turned out to be not gold, but pewter. The golden prizes with which he dazzles the eyes of the German people will all prove to be equally deceptive.

If he sends the hat check boys to the war Gen. Crowder should have a monument in Longacre Square.—New York Sun.

GRAIN FEEDS SHOULD NOT BE MIXED

State Food Administrator Sackett issues Bulletin in Mixing of Feeds in This State.

Many complaints have been received by the United States Food Administration that millers are avoiding low price set for wheat mill feed by mixing these feeds with small quantities of other grains, then labeling them with a fancy name and selling them at high prices. The Government has passed a rule which says that no wheat miller shall mix any greater percentage of wheat mill feed with other feedstuffs, or sell any greater percentage to feed mixers for such mixing, than he mixed and sold in the year 1917.

As this rule has been in effect since May 2nd, and some of the mills in Kentucky may not have felt the necessity of conforming to the same, an order was issued by the Federal Food Administrator for the State today, directing Auditors to require a complete statement of the amount of mixed feeds sold this year and last year in such mill visited, and this action has been taken in order to insure the users of wheat mill feeds against abnormally high prices even of the patent feeds. Administrators having reason to suspect violations of the above rule are requested to require millers to file statements with them showing the amount of mill feed sold for mixing purposes each month in 1917 and each month in 1918.

FRED M. SACKETT,
Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky.

THRIFT NEED NOT IMPOSE UGLY MODES IN WOMEN'S DRESS

Women's dress is becoming more and more discussed in connection with thrift and economy. The growing popularity of uniforms and the question of the practicability of standardized dress for women in business bring forward the question whether clothing in wartime should be cheerful or austere.

"Women's dress may be the expression of an instinct for display and variety, but man in his attire is the slave of a standardized past," said Dr. Jessica Peixotto, executive chairman of the Department of Child Welfare of the Woman's Committee, Council of National Defense. "Certainly women's dress should be cheerful. I see no reason why thrifit should sound the doom of the decorative. It has been said that in the midst of the most severe torments woman should keep her smile and that her garments and her ornaments are parts of her smile. 'It is necessary to laugh in order not to cry,' and clothing can greatly aid in giving the feeling of cheerfulness. It need not, however, express flippancy.

"Butterfly clothing is very different from fresh, simple, useful dress such as sports clothing represents. Austerities garments do not necessarily clothe courage; witness the gay military uniforms of the past. It is perfectly possible to be thrifit and cheerful, to wear clothing of simple lines and inexpensive material, so as to liberate labor now engaged in creating empty superfluities, and thus to add to the general efficiency of the woman power of the country."

It is pointed out that there is at present plenty of work at good wages for all who want to work and plants begging men to work are furnishing them with transportation so that there is no excuse for a man who wants to work to be riding freight trains or stealing rides on blind baggage. The officers have reached the conclusion that these robberies are the work of hoboes many of whom are to be seen riding trains throughout the country.

It is also pointed out that there is at present plenty of work at good wages for all who want to work and plants begging men to work are furnishing them with transportation so that there is no excuse for a man who wants to work to be riding freight trains or stealing rides on blind baggage. The officers have reached the conclusion that these robberies are the work of hoboes many of whom are to be seen riding trains throughout the country.

The word will likely be passed out to arrest all persons seen stealing rides on trains and investigate them and it is expected that in this way the crooks abroad in this section will be arrested and punished.

JUST BACK FROM FRONT SON WRITES MOTHER

Mrs. A. J. Watson of East Second street, has just received the following very interesting letter from her son, who is a member of the U. S. Marine Corps now in France:

Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know I am happy and in the best of health hope you are the same. Mother my company received bags of mail yesterday and I never received any and have been uneasy ever since, afraid something has happened at home. Mother I took my clothes and shoes off last night for the first time in eighteen days and nights (here's where the censor goes busy) that was one of the happiest times in my life for I was needing some rest after 18 days hard battle with the best troops Germany had but I can say they are fine. They are afraid of the Americans and we don't blame them a bit but we have just got started now. The Germans tried everything they had on us; they tried artillery, infantry and gas, but they could do nothing but retreat when the Marines got started. We were under a heavy artillery barrage for five days and nights and that is the worst thing in the war, all one can do is to sit down and take what he gets and of course some one is likely to get hurt if a shell hits too close to him. Mother I just stopped writing until the mail was sorted out, the company received five more bags today and I never got any, what is the matter, why don't you write? I haven't received any since I left Quantico. We are now in a quiet town back of the lines for a rest. We are all ready to go back today after a good night's sleep and all we could eat of the best entrees that could be gotten over here. Am sending a clipping out of our paper that is printed over here about the battle as there is nothing of interest to write, will close with love and kisses. I remain your loving son.

HENRY WATSON.

RAIDS OF ALL TRAIN RIDERS TO BE MADE

Police Believe That the Many Robberies in Railroad Towns are the Work of Railroad Hoboes.

There seems to be a wave of robberies all along the C. & O. railroad line just at this time and the Special Agents of the road together with the police officials in the various towns and cities along the road have reached the conclusion that these robberies are the work of hoboes many of whom are to be seen riding trains throughout the country.

It is pointed out that there is at present plenty of work at good wages for all who want to work and plants begging men to work are furnishing them with transportation so that there is no excuse for a man who wants to work to be riding freight trains or stealing rides on blind baggage. SOME LETTERS HARM MORE THAN HELP

American Women Should Be Careful the Sort of Letters They Write to the Soldiers in France.

American women have been writing to their soldier sons serving in France with more affection than good judgment, according to reports that come back from time to time. Too often the letters contain expressions of anxiety and grief. Small worries, also, are borne across seas and large troubles are frequently shared with the boys away from home.

"If our mothers would not worry it would be better for them and better for us," is the cry of hundreds of our boys in the hospitals of Europe," said Mrs. Edward Vickers, of Boston, who has returned to the United States after passing three years in war work in England and France.

"Men with amputations staining in the face will say this again and again," declared Mrs. Vickers. "The mother comes first at the vital moment and the main anxiety is that she may not suffer. When a boy is lying in a hospital cot, every other sentence contains the words, 'my mother, or 'my wife,' or 'my girl,' and very often 'my pal.'

"And I would like to tell the girls of this country that men abroad regard their girl friends at home in accordance with the standard which the girls have set for themselves. That the girls they have left behind are worth fighting for is a sustaining thought that comforts the boys as they fight and when they must suffer and die.

"Let all the letters from home be as bright and as new as possible. Also do not forget to tell the boys what the home folks are doing to keep up their end of the war. They want to hear good reports about the Red Cross, the Liberty loan and the War-Saving Stamp drives. If a letter is cheerful and hopeful a man will tell the good news to his comrades. If it is depressing he will take it away and read it by himself in some quiet corner and its influence is more far-reaching than the writer could ever have imagined it might be. So please tell every one at home to write cheery letters to their boys 'over there.'

"And do not let up on Red Cross or other war work," pleaded Mrs. Vickers. "Don't think enough is being done without your aid. Every single bandage you take means just that much comfort to some sick or wounded man."

Mrs. Vickers said the need of nurses on the other side is great.

"But let no woman go who is not clothed with proper authority," she warned. "No woman is wanted there who is not efficient, or who is not qualified to carry on her trained work officially. If a woman is not free to go abroad or not fitted for service over there she can help by staying at home and releasing some woman who is prepared for work at the front."

Yes, Luke, we know that every married man has a grievance—and so has his wife until she becomes a widow.

WATER WASTE IS CRIMINAL SAYS WRITER

Water System of Cities Should Be Such That There is No Waste of Water Now so Very Costly.

Using high priced coal and labor to pump water to run into sewers is criminal waste, is the title of a very interesting and instructive article published in the American City Magazine this month, by Edward E. Wall, Water Commissioner of St. Louis, Mo.

The situation is not unlike our own situation and we feel that we might be benefited by studying methods being used to overcome problems in which we have a common interest.

Mr. Wall says, "Taking the results of measurements in St. Louis together with reports from observers in other cities the average quantity of 40 gallons per capita per day would give an ample water supply for domestic use. The quantity of water daily used for public purposes such as street washing and sprinkling in public buildings and parks, and for extinguishing fires, as nearly as can be estimated should not exceed 12 gallons per capita.

The daily commercial use of water in various cities ranges from 30 to 60 gallons per capita so that it is safe to estimate 45 gallons as sufficient while the unavoidable losses of water from the system such as undiscoverable underground leaks, losses from draining mains for repairs from leaks and breaks before they can be shut off, from the slip of meters, and water stolen through unrecorded connections and deliberate misrepresentation would be covered by an allowance of a daily per capita of 10 gallons.

A daily consumption of 107 gallons per capita as above divided between domestic, public and commercial uses, including the allowance for unpreventable losses will not only provide an ample supply for all legitimate uses but will still admit of extravagances or waste to a considerable extent, perhaps 20 per cent.

The actual average daily per capita consumption in St. Louis for the calendar year 1917 was 133 gallons. This excess of 26 gallons per capita per day represent the actual wanton waste for which there is no justification whatever. It means that 20,000,000 gallons of water were daily pumped into the mains and deliberately wasted into the sewers and drains without having served any useful purpose. The cost of pumping, purifying and re-pumping this water was not less than $40 per million gallons for operating and maintenance charges alone, or a total of $800 per day absolutely thrown away, amounting to the total sum of $292,000 for the year 1917.

The coal burned per million gallons of water pumped, by actual weights taken in the boiler rooms averaged 3,500 pounds or over 65 tons of coal were consumed each day. This 2,800 tons of coal was consumed at a time when the United States Fuel Administrator was urging economy and restricting coal deliveries to the bare necessities of preferred classes of consumers.

Among the restrictive measures that could and should be immediately authorized may be mentioned the prohibition of lawn-sprinkling or washing sidewalks, except between certain hours mornings and evenings; forbidding the use of automatic devices for sprinkling lawns or gardens except where premises are metered; prohibiting the use of water motor washing machines and in fact, the use of water motors in general; the enforcement of strict regulations for the conservation of the free water use by and under the orders of city departments other than the water department.

The systematic house to house inspection for leaks and waste which is carried on daily in St. Louis, year in and year out, has kept the average daily per capita consumption below that of many of our larger cities.

Compared with the 329 gallons used at Buffalo, the 259 at Chicago, 176 at Philadelphia and 168 at Detroit, 133 at St. Louis appears to be moderate.

But Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Boston, Providence and others make a much better showing, ranging in the order names from 126 to 66 gallons. It is significant to note that all cities having an average daily per capita below 100 gallons have 80 per cent. or more of their services metered.

The only effective and economical method of reducing water waste and leakage to a minimum is through the general installation of meters. The results attained will be permanent and the meter will economically act as an inspector perpetually on the job.

AMERICANS REFUSE TO MAKE RETREAT

"We Are Going to Counter-Attack" Declares American General, Ignoring Counsel of the French.

Paris, July 17—"We regret being unable on this occasion follow the counsel of our master, the French, but American flag has been forced to retire. This is unendurable and none of our soldiers would understand their not being asked to do whatever is necessary to reestablish a situation which is humiliating to us and unacceptable to our country honor. We are going to counter-attack."

This was a message sent by an American General in command of American forces south of the Marne, Monday afternoon after the Germans had succeeded in forcing the Americans back toward Combe-en-Brie.

The French commander informed the American General that the early German success could not have any great effect on the fate of the battle; that it was understood perfectly that after hard asked to do whatever is necessary to retire and that it was not expected that they immediately launch a counter-attack.

He added that a counter-attack could be postponed without risk and it might be better to give the American troops an hour's rest.

Immediately after the American General sent the above message, which is quoted by the correspondent of the "Matin," the Americans launched the counter-attack, and the lost ground was soon recovered, with an additional half mile taken from the Germans for good measure.

BASKET WILLOW PROFITABLE

Several times in years past we have called attention of our farmers to the fact that good money could be made with little effort by planting a patch of basket willows along the branches or creeks on their farms.

Land for this purpose can be utilized that can be used for no other purposes in crop growing. An instance of the value of basket willows was furnished us only last week, when we were informed that E. R. Rigs, who recently bought a farm in Ohio, had a patch of basket willows on the premises which he cut and sold for $200—quite a snug sum. This willow is always in demand at a good price and if ever introduced in this country will bring our farmers many thousands of dollars additional to what they are now realizing on their lands.

PLUMBERS ARE WANTED FOR IMPORTANT JOBS

Kentucky Is Asked to Furnish Fifty Men to Do Lead Burning at Salary of One Dollar an Hour.

State Director Frank L. McVey of the U. S. Public Service Reserve sent out a call to all of the County Chairmen yesterday for Lead Burners Kentucky has been allotted the task of securing fifty.

Lead-burners are used to build lead tanks for chemical companies and the like. The edges of a tank are are brought together and scraped bright, a strip of brightened lead is placed back of this joint and then with a torch the operator melts a little strip of bright lead into the joint about as one would use a strip of soft solder.

It takes a great deal of practice and experience to burn the edges of the tank and the reinforcing strip together without actually melting the lead so it runs out. The most difficult feature of lead burning is to melt an overhead seam together, for in this case the heat must be just exactly sufficient to melt the lead or it would run and drop to the floor. The work that is being done now does not require this overhead work and a good many of the old time plumbers can do lead burning.

An exceptional opportunity is offered men capable of filling this position which pays one dollar an hour. The demand for lead burners is urgent and we hope that any person capable of accepting such a position will get in touch with Secretary Dodds at the Chamber of Commerce at once.

The Department of Labor has also called on this office to furnish applications of men who want to be induced into the military service or who want to enlist in the military service, as follows: For induction or enlistment: An indefinite number of refrigeration engineers, steam engineers, chemical workers not chemists, electricians. All but refrigeration men, chemical men and steam men are for Lakewood, New Jersey. This requisition is probably the forerunner of one which will soon come calling for 7,000 men.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Maysville People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause of the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 60 years. Read Maysville testimony.

Mrs. E. Sphar, E. Second and Walnut Sts., says: "I have never seen Doan's Kidney Pills fail to help anyone complaining of their kidneys. I have been greatly benefited by them myself."

At times my back has ached and I have suffered from lameness through the small of my back. When I have been in that way, I have used a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills.

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Sphar had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60 cents at all stores. BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Mrs. Graf Says Vinol Cured Her

Darlington, Pa.—"I suffered from bronchial asthma so badly I would often have to sit up half of the night or lean over the back of a chair, and so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. I had spent lots of money for different asthma medicines without help—but Vinol helped me so I sleep well, and am so well and strong I am doing all my work on the farm,"—Mrs. Emma Graf.

Vinol is a constitutional remedy which contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates. We strongly recommend Vinol.

CHILDREN MUST BE FURNISHED PLAY GROUND

Children of the Cities Should Be Given Some Spot in Which They Could Develop Themselves During Play Time.

The American City, a publication dealing specifically with Civic problems, contained a very interesting article by Henry S. Curtis Ph. D. this month on playgrounds for children. He says:

"Among all primitive people childhood is spent mostly in play. But during the past half century most countries have made education free and compulsory. The rapidly expanding field of knowledge has offered larger and larger tasks and children have been loaded with burdens such as they never before were called upon to carry. The public in general has appreciated the value of the education that has come through the school but it has not appreciated the value of the natural education through play which it has replaced. The result has often been that the children have been little of the freedom and joyousness of childhood left. Child study and the new psychology have brought a new point of view. We have discovered that it was not by chance that nature implanted in the young of all animals this impulse to play, but that it is, in fact, Nature's instrument of training. The uninhibited public has always confused play with idleness or exercise and most play is apt to be noisy and troublesome to parents. It uses up clothes, brings no financial return, and seems to have no relation to making a living. Most parents have been blind to its physical, educational and social results.

Coupon bonds may be converted into either coupon or registered bonds but registered bonds only will be exchanged for registered bonds and will be inscribed with the names of the registered owners of such bonds.

All matured coupons, including those maturing June 15, 1918, and May 15, 1918, must be detached from the 4% bonds before they are surrendered for conversion. The converted bonds will bear interest at the rate of 4¾% from June 15, 1918 and May 15, 1918 respectively, and have the same maturity dates as the original bonds.

This bank is prepared to receive and handle all of the above bonds for conversion and places its facilities at the disposal of its customers and the Government.

HEALTH LEAGUE MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Annual Meeting of the Mason County Health League Held at First Presbyterian Church Tonight.

The annual meeting of the Mason County Health League will be held at the First Presbyterian Church this evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock when the business of the League will be transacted for the entire year. Some very important business is to come up at this meeting among which is the matter of incorporating the organization under the state laws.

Following the regular business session there will be a very interesting session in which several prominent local citizens will take part and the feature of which will probably be the annual report of Miss Annie M. Casey, Health Nurse. Miss Casey's report will disclose some wonderful work during the past year by the organization and many who are not acquainted with the every day work of the workers in this league will be greatly surprised at the great accomplishments.

The matter of the affiliation of the league with the American Red Cross and the extra duties of the organization during war times will be discussed by Miss Mary Wilson, who keeps in a close touch with this work as any one in the city or county.

Another important feature of the meeting will be the first report of Mason county's full time Health Officer, Dr. J. S. Locke and his report will give the public some idea of the work this officer has done since he has been chosen by the county to devote his full time to the health work in Mason county and Maysville.

Dr. B. B. Bailey, the new pastor of the First Baptist Church, will make an address on the subject "Keep The Home Fires Burning" and there will be special music furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dodds.

It is certain that there will be a surprise in store for all those who attend the meeting and all who are members of the League are urged especially to be in attendance. Those who are not members but who are interested in the great health work that is going on in Mason county are urged to attend this meeting and become members.

It had been planned to make a sort of all day picnic out of the annual meeting but because of the busy season and the war calls it was decided to hold it in the usual way.

Although there is much on the program it will not extend over a very long period of time and all attending are assured that it will be interesting and well worth their time.

Miss Drillite, Boyd County Health Nurse, accompanied by Mrs. Roe, prominent health worker of Ashland, motored through yesterday and will attend the meeting this evening. Miss Drillite will tell something of the work in Boyd county.

Avery Stewart, and Mary Jane Gray, of Bath county, applied at the office of County Clerk James Owens yesterday for marriage license but Deputy Clerk Arthur Wood would not issue the license until County Clerk Owens arrived. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Gary of Lexington, are the guests of Colonel and Mrs. J. Barbour Russell.

MANY SEE SOLDIERS OFF FOR THE CAMP

It looked a good deal like County Court day yesterday afternoon on Second street from Market to Sutton streets. The squad of draftees leaving yesterday was the first squad of men who were mostly farmers and their friends and relatives came from all parts of the county to see them off and give them a good-bye and a wish for speedy return.

After reporting to the headquarters of the local Exemption Board at the Government building in the morning, the men marched to the hotel where they were given their dinner and afternoon they were treated to a special matinee at the Gem Theater as the guests of the management. The relatives and friends of the young men were also invited to the special show.

Many of those who would rather spend the short time they had left in Maysville with their friends and relatives walked about the streets and Second street took on the appearance of a real busy day, but the stores were not filled with shoppers for all attention was being given the men who were soon to leave for camp.

At 3 o'clock the men were called together on Second street near the Whitehall Hotel and the official list was handed to Captain George Berlin by the Exemption Board officials.

The men were then lined up and the list called, each man answering "here" at the call of his name.

After all of the men had been accounted for they were lined up by two's and headed by members of the board and Captain Berlin, they marched between throngs standing on the sidewalks and in the streets cheering and waving American flags.

At the depot there was the usual large crowd. After the men had marched away the business section of the city looked deserted until after the train had run.

Mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers and sweethearts had gathered at the station to say a last good bye but there was not as much the tear shedding as could be expected on such an occasion for the men were all in fine spirits and their spirits spread over the entire crowd. Many of the men were singing, laughing and even some giving the old Indian war whoop often heard between our old hills.

Despite the general good spirit which reigned until the train arrived, it changed somewhat when the Conductor called "All Aboard" and as the train began to move mothers, sisters, sweethearts, and some fathers and brothers went into their handbags and pockets for their handkerchiefs for the tears could not be kept back.

This was the largest company of men ever leaving Mason county at one time and they were all farmers except four or five.

LICENSE OF LOCAL DEALER SUSPENDED

Maysville Branch of F. G. Day & Co., Cannot Deal in Food Stuffs During This Week.

The first local food dealers to have their Food Administration license suspended for breaking the rules of the Food Administration are F. G. Day & Company, dealers in produce on the Second street Extension, who through an edict issued by the State Food Administrator for the state of Ohio, are unable this week to deal in any food stuffs.

Some several weeks ago F. G. Day & Company, prominent produce dealers in Cincinnati were brought before the State Food Administrator for the state of Ohio on serious charges and they were given a thorough investigation which showed the dealers guilty of the charges made against them.

After considering the case carefully the Ohio State Administrator suspended their federal license for a week. This order also applied to all of their branches who were operating under their licenses and, of course, this affected the Maysville branch.

The breech of the Federal order was not made in this city and is not blamed on the local branch but they, as a part of the F. G. Day & Company organization, were compelled to suspend business for the week.

CREDITORS OF BANKRUPT MEET

The first meeting of the creditors of I. N. Wood, bankrupt, will be held in the offices of Attorney Frank P. O'Donnell in the First-Standard Bank building tomorrow. Mr. Wood, who formerly operated the Kroger Grocery store in East Second street, became a bankrupt in the Federal Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky several weeks ago.

NOVEL SCHEME FOR SECURING NAVAL RECRUITS

Concrete Motor Boat Coming Down Ohio to Stimulate Recruiting—To Be Here Sunday, July 28.

The "Concrete" a motor boat, built of Portland Cement, left Pittsburgh yesterday on a trip from Pittsburgh to Chicago, by the way of the Ohio and Mississippi River. This boat was exhibited various places in the East and created quite a stimulus in arousing recruits in New York and Washington.

Prof. W. J. Caplinger with whom the officers in charge of the trip have communicated, yesterday issued the following statement:

"I received a letter from the Portland Cement Association giving the schedule of this motor boat on its way down the Ohio. It is due to arrive here July 28, 6:35 p.m., leaves here 7:30 a.m., July 29. We trust that there will be a number of people to meet this novel craft and talk with Skipper Curtis Smith about the opportunities of enlistment. This will be a splendid chance for a number of our young men who are wanting to offer their services to get first-hand information concerning the Navy. Every one will be interested in seeing real camouflage—the 'Concrete' carries a modern disguise, representing one of the methods our Navy uses to outwit the Hun. We hope you will, visit the Concrete boat, ride with Skipper Smith and sign the log. If possible, take with you a prospective recruit—this may be your opportunity to give our Navy another Paul Jones, a Perry, a Farragut, or a Dewey."

DR. LEWIS HOBSON DIED AT CHICAGO

Yesterday's Louisville Courier-Journal says: The Rev. Dr. Lewis Hobson, a native of Kentucky, and for twenty-five years a professor at the McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, died Tuesday in that city after a long illness. The body was brought to Louisville last night for burial. Dr. Hobson was born at Augusta, Ky. He was educated at Central University, Richmond, and Princeton Theological Seminary. His only pastoral in this state was at the Presbyterian church in Crescent Hill.

Dr. Hobson, following his marriage to Miss Kate Humphrey, of Louisville, twenty-five years ago, moved to Chicago. He is survived by his widow and two daughters. The funeral takes place at 11 o'clock this morning at the Fourth-avenue Presbyterian church.

Dr. Hobson was a cousin of Dr. John Barbour of the First Presbyterian Church and President J. Foster Barbour of the Bank of Maysville. He had frequently visited in Maysville.
